How often do you like to read?

“I usually read just before I go to bed or on Saturday or Sunday mornings.”

What do you like to read?

“I like reading pop culture classics and cult classics. I like anything that is written from the perspective of the antagonist, as I feel these books often present an alternative perspective that is not typically explored in other novels.”

List one book that has left a lasting impression on you and explain why it’s memorable . . . .

“I read “Fight Club” by Chuck Palahnuick in year 9 and really enjoyed it. It changed my view on a couple of things as it was one of the first novels that I had read that attacked pop culture and materialistic values. The novel also seemed to argue that in order to be happy you have to think for yourself, question society’s values and take risks in order to get where you want in life.”
